

AFTER CONSTANTINE
STORIES FROM THE LATE ANTIQUE AND EARLY BYZANTINE ERA

WRITING GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Papers should not exceed 20 pages.

Please use the Times New Roman 12 font for the main text and the Times New Roman 10 font for the footnotes.

Your paper must include a small abstract (100 words max) after the title, about its content and five or six key-words.

Please insert a footnote next to your name with a small biographical note (30–40 words)

Footnote numbers in the main text should follow commas or full-stops, without any spacing in between. For example... Like Constantine's strategy.³

Please use double and curly quotation marks. For example “eastern.” Use single quotation marks when placing a sentence that needs a quotation and is inside a double-quotation one, or to define a term.

Put the commas and periods inside the final quotation mark (e.g. “east.”) and all the other marks of punctuation outside the quotation marks.

Subheadings of the paper should be in bold font, placed on the left, without numbers.

For “compare” use Cf. In another case, use see.

When referring the same book/paper two (or more) times in a row, please use Ibid.

Greek and Latin words should be in italic font and followed by a translation (if possible).

Put a comma before “and” in a series. For example: In the east, the west, and north.

PLACING PHOTOS, MAPS, DIAGRAMS AND OTHER IMAGES

Each example (photograph, map, diagram etc.) must be accompanied by a descriptive title appearing immediately below, and followed by a reference.

PLACING PHOTOS, MAPS, DIAGRAMS AND OTHER IMAGES

Each example (photograph, map, diagram etc.) must be accompanied by a descriptive title appearing immediately below, and followed by a reference. Please, make sure that all the picture rights are free or they own to the writer.

REFERRING IN FOOTNOTES

Please apply the Harvard reference system in your footnotes (name, publication year, page).

For example Lapham 2003, p. 18.

When referring two or more books, separate with semicolon.

For example Lapham 2003; Foss 1996.

For ancient writers, write the full name in Latin characters, followed by the book (in italic font) and the chapter.

For example Eusebius of Caesaria. Church History. 9.6
